N.E.S. Head Paints Bright Picture For The 'Pass Area

The Crow's Nest Pass area, often considered to be in the midst of an economic and industrial slump, is actually more than holding its own, F. J. Lote told a meeting of the Blairmore Board of Trade.

Mr. Lote, manager of the National Employment Service offices here, claimed the employment picture in the area was completely stable.

In several instances, firms were expanding their work, and there are indications of an iron ore industry for the 'Pass, he said.

West Canadian Collieries, Mr. Lote told the board, are now spending huge sums in a search for iron ore in the area. The firm has also started on a $600,000 project for uncovering large seams at the Grassy Mountain strip mine.

"It is reasonable, therefore," he added, "to assume that this company has knowledge of and reason for this terrific expenditure and for some outlet for their present stockpile of cleaned coal."

Two Mines Close

In the past three years, Mr. Lote said, two 'Pass mines have shut down — the Hillcrest-Mohawk at Maple Leaf, and the International at Blairmore.

However, he added, most of the miners from these were absorbed by other Blairmore and B.C. mines in the area, and only a small portion of the $100,000 relief money allocated by the Alberta government has been used.

"It is true," Mr. Lote commented, "that some people have left the area. But others have moved in."

School attendance, he noted, shows an increase this year, and most business firms show a steady business trend, with increases reported by some retail and wholesale outlets.

Catholic Women's League Hold Successful Bazaar

The C.W.L. held a very successful Tea, Pantry Table and sale of work in the Italian Hall, on Saturday October 8th. A delicious tea was served convoked by Mrs. J. Lepacek. The tea tables were ably served by the girls of the Parish. Mrs. J. McDonald and Mrs. T. Smith poured tea for the afternoon. The lunch cloth was won by Miss M. Lloyd of Blairmore while the tea prize was won by Mrs. H. Maslen.

The Tombola prizes were also drawn for with the prizes going to 1 Joan Marcial, Blairmore, No. 212 2 Jack Rushon, No. 1728, 3. Mike Wierich, 335, 4. Janice Aislie 1081, 5. Santa DeMartin, 1252, 6. Mrs. Rose Porayko Dies Following Lengthy Illness

HILLCREST — Mrs. Rose Porayko, 69, a long-time resident of Hillcrest, passed away in the Crow's Nest Pass Municipal Hospital here Monday evening following a lengthy illness.

Mrs. Porayko was born in Taparout, Western Ukraine, on March 15, 1886. She had resided in Hillcrest for the past 36 years.

She is survived by her widower, Pete Porayko of Hillcrest, who is a patient in the Crow's Nest Pass Municipal Hospital. Funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

All handicapped and aged miners are employed on the No. 3 highway project, he said, and much local equipment is being used on this job.

Forestry Program

A forestry program has been launched, Mr. Lote added, and two crews, consisting mostly of aged miners, are working in the area.

There is a possibility, he added, Mines on the B.C. side of the 'Pass have helped alleviate unemployment by using miners from Alberta towns. The Alberta government is providing financial assistance to run buses for these men, allowing them to commute to Fernie and Michel from homes on the Alberta side of the boundary.

The Crow's Nest Coal Co., he said is constantly expanding its operations and payroll at Fernie and Michel. In addition, he added, it is opening a new mine at Michel, and building a $500,000 overpass at its cleaning plant.

Recent discoveries of natural gas in the Kanaskis and Lumbreck districts, Mr. Lote said, show the area has a definite oil and gas potential.

One new well, being drilled at Tod Creek, is down to the 1,300-foot level, and three new wells are slated for this area. Seismograph cars are active in the district, and lease and surface right values are increasing, he added.

Much of the progress made in the past few years, Mr. Lote said, has been due to the efforts of a special board set up by the commission. The board, which includes government, municipal, NES, and industrial representatives, has kept a constant check on the situation and done considerable research into the problem.

Coleman Old Timer Dies

Mrs. Theresa Oliva, 84, long time resident of Coleman, passed away at her home here Tuesday following a period of ill health.

Mrs. Oliva was born in Tello, Italy, on Oct. 22, 1870, and went to the United States in 1899, settling in Youngstown, Ohio, where she remained for eight years. In 1907 she and her husband returned to Italy and remained there for one year, during which time an earthquake wiped out their home.

In 1908 the family came to Canada, settling in Coleman where Mrs. Oliva resided until the time of her death. She was predeceased by her husband, Frank, in Coleman 27 years ago, by a son, Angelo, in a mine accident in Coleman in 1946, and by one daughter, Mrs. Frances Silvester, in Kimberley in 1935.

She is survived by four sons, Dominic, Peppy and Pete in Coleman and Andy in Blairmore; one daughter, Mrs. Mary Gennario in Coleman, 11 grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

Prayers were said from Culham's Funeral Home in Coleman at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday evening.

Requiem High Mass was celebrated from the Holy Ghost Catholic Church in Coleman at 10 a.m. Friday and interment will follow in the Holy Ghost Catholic Cemetery. Rev. Dennis Fleming of Coleman officiated at the services.

Organization Meet Held For Choir

BLAIRMORE — An encouraging attendance was present at the first meeting held in the Blairmore main school Tuesday evening to form a mixed Crows Nest Pass Choir.

Chairman Rev. Roy Chubb stated Wednesday much interest is shown by residents of Blairmore and Bellevue and it is hoped that Coleman and Hillcrest will take an interest in the mixed choir as a minimum of 40 voices is required in order that the choir function.

Mr. Chubb also states the choir is non-sectarian and he invites all interested persons to attend the next meeting to be held in the main school in Blairmore at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

The choir, after formation, will meet in the main school here every Tuesday evening at 7:30 p.m. for full scale rehearsals.

● Boy Scouts attending the eighth World Boy Scout Jamboree at Niagara-on-the-Lake had the opportunity to have a close look at a C.B.C.-T.V. camera. Six cameras, like the one these scouts are inspecting, were used to cover Jamboree activities. F. R. Halhed, (right) of C.B.C.'s Outside Broadcasts Department in Toronto, co-ordinated radio and television coverage of the international event. With Halhed on camera are, (left to right) Stan Gerstein, Philip Deschamps, Don Young and Jim Worts, all of Toronto. More than 70 producers, commentators, cameramen, technicians and other C.B.C. personnel were required to cover the jamboree for radio and television audiences in Canada, the United States and countries throughout the world.

GULF OFFICIALS SEEK SITE IN PINCHER FOR SEPARATION PLANT

PINCHER CREEK — Canadian Gulf Oil Company will build a separation plant near here soon, it is reported.

Representatives of the company spent the week in Pincher Creek conducting a survey for a plant site. Although no final decision was made, three sites are being considered.

It is understood the plant is to be built, regardless of whether gas will be exported from the Pincher Creek field.

Coleman Lions Club Host For Zone Meeting

It was an enjoyable affair with a dinner served by the Eastern Star ladies, preceded by a cocktail hour and concluding with a dance, the affair being held in the Elks hall.

The visitors from Montana included Ray Nelson, secretary-treasurer of Dist. 37 of Choteau; Dr. Howard W. Bateman, all of Choteau; George Grabl, former district governor, of Missoula, and Lee Murphy, Choteau, where he is district attorney.

Mayor Frank Aboussay, member of the Coleman club, welcomed the members from Macleod, Pincher Creek, Blairmore and the Bellevue club. Club president Rolfe Hill of Coleman was chairman, and Don Thornton, district governor, introduced the visiting officers, including Helel Merriel of Lethbridge.

Gordon Reeves of Macleod, and Jack Kerr of Frank were tail-walkers and didn't miss a bet in collecting fines.

Presented with 15-year pins or chevrons were charter members, Robert R. Pattinson and Stewart Murdoch, and Frank Aboussay was awarded a 10-year chevron. Frank has been mayor of Coleman for 12 years and has a gent's clothing store here.

District Men Attend Church Meet

Twelve Southern Albertans were among the 135 lay members of the United Church of Canada from the four western provinces who gathered at the Banff School of Fine Arts during the Thanksgiving week-end for the first Western Conference of Men of the United Church of Canada.

They included P. G. Holberton and William Langemeade, Lethbridge; Stuart Boyle, Taber; Vernon Cairns and Dr. C. Smith, Pincher Creek; J. C. Kent, Otto Roniekie and A. Sempt, Medicine Hat; David Ducox, Blairmore; Mel Dunford, Coleman, and Gerald Loree and Howard Armstrong, Nanton.

The theme of the three-day conference was Dr. ohn Oliver Nelson, professor of Christian vocation, Yale University, Cambridge, Mass. Mr. Holberton was chairman of one of the group discussions, that there will be an extensive lumbering operation, for local operators in the Dutch Creek area.

Poppy Committee To Sponsor Contest For School Children Grade 8 And Under

The Canadian Legion Poppy Committee at a meeting held on Saturday, October 15th decided to sponsor a contest open to all children attending Coleman schools who are in the following grades. Grades 5 to 8 will compete for three awards for the best essay on WHAT THE POPPY MEANS TO ME and children in grades 1 to 4 will compete for three awards in drawing and coloring a Poppy. It is the responsibility of the Legion Poppy Committee to see that every person in Coleman who can be reached by this organization is given the opportunity of wearing a poppy or displaying a wreath on Remembrance Day. Every child should also wear a poppy regardless of his ability to make any financial contribution. These citizens of tomorrow must be taught the significance of the poppy. It is hoped that through the co-operation of the school authorities and by promoting this contest that the school children will get a much clearer picture of what the poppy means and represents. In addition to the act of Remembrance, contributions to the poppy fund are tangible expressions of thanks to the men who died and to the disabled veterans who, from hospital beds, often wished they could. To all we ask your support in helping our children of today to really know what the Poppy stands for.

Prominent Pass Sportsman Dies After Long Illness

HILLCREST — Joe Luini, 43, well-known Hillcrest man, died in the Crow's Nest Pass Municipal Hospital Saturday following a long period of ill health.

Mr. Luini was born in Cassano Marnago, Italy, on November 3, 1912, and came to Canada with his parents at the age of eight. He resided in Hillcrest all his life and was prominent in hunting, fishing and baseball circles throughout the Crow's Nest Pass area. He was a member of the Blairmore Moose Lodge. He attended school in Hillcrest and later became employed at the Bellevue mine of the West Canadian Collieries, where he worked as a miner until the time of his death.

He was predeceased by his father, Lazzaro Luini, at Hillcrest in March, 1955.

Surviving are his widow, Jenny; four sons, Garry, 13, Charlie, 9, Brian, 7, and Harold, 6; one daughter, Peggy, 3, his mother Antella, all of Hillcrest; and two brothers, Louis at Blairmore and John in Calgary.

Prayers were said at Culham's Funeral Home in Blairmore at 7:30 Tuesday evening.

Requiem High Mass was celebrated in St. Theresa's Catholic Church in Hillcrest at 10 a.m. Wednesday and interment followed in St. Theresa's Catholic Cemetery. Rev. L. Caroli of Bellevue officiated at the services.

Coleman Members Attend 45th Army Meet at Ft. Macleod

FORT MACLEOD. — The Salvation Army Home League Institute for Southern Alberta was held here recently. It was conducted by Mrs. Sr. Major W. Ross, divisional Home League secretary.

The visiting delegates, numbering 60 in all, were from Medicine Hat, Lethbridge and Coleman and were well looked after by the local Salvation Army Home League.

At the morning session, papers on Home League projects were given. Major Douglas Church of Lethbridge, was present and spoke on the subject "We Must Go To The People". This was followed by a Bible message delivered by the guest speaker, Major Jean Wylie, missionary on homeland furlough from Rhodesia. At the close of this session, each league gave a donation of money to help the Salvation Army officers in Italy.

The afternoon portion was led by Lieut. Munroe of Coleman, after which various demonstrations were given—rick-rack flowers by Mrs. Street of Medicine Hat; copper jewelry by Mrs. McKeever of Lethbridge; picture framing by Mrs. H. Neddco of Coleman; loom weaving by Mrs. Coult of Lethbridge; Christmas candles, by Mrs. F. Pinkerton.

The final session commenced at 7:30 p.m., the town hall being packed for this occasion. The Lethbridge Salvation Army band furnished the music at the evening session. An enrollment service of new members was conducted by Mrs. Major Ross, followed by a vocal number by a Medicine Hat women's trio, Mrs. O. Olliffe, Mrs. R. Burkett and Mrs. H. Baldwin. Colored slides of her work in Rhodesia were shown by Major Wylie, followed by a short talk.

Poppy Campaign Set By Legion

Sales of poppies and wreaths are expected to increase over sales of last year according to John Kulig, president Coleman Legion branch.

"There was a particularly heavy distribution of poppy wreaths last year because of the number of citizens who dedicated a wreath at the Remembrance Day ceremony," said Mr. Kulig.

Last week Chairman of the poppy committee Mr. Beddington announced that the annual poppy campaign would begin Oct. 17th, especially for the sale of wreaths. The Branch president encouraged the trend towards citizens taking a active part in Remembrance ceremonies. "It is every Canadian's day of Remembrance," he said. "There is no reason why the ceremony should not include more citizens."

Mr. Kulig pointed out that such remembrance brought tangible benefits to the community. "It is generally known that more than 80% of the proceeds derived from the distribution of poppies remains in the community," he said. "This permits Branch No. 9 of Coleman to assist all veterans of the community in distress, whether or not they are members of the Legion," he added.

Poppy day will be held in Coleman on Friday, Nov. 4th, and every citizen is requested to buy that Red Poppy, Symbol of Sacrifice in honor of those Immortal Men who gave their lives.

Mercury - Vapor Street Lights

Two new mercury vapor Luminaire lamps have been installed on the Coleman main street for approval this week. If the lamps prove satisfactory, several more will be ordered.

Crews of town workmen have torn out the bluff near west Coleman for the purpose of laying a 1,000 feet of four-inch pipe for water line to serve the residents of this area.

The old water line has deteriorated seriously during the past few years and has caused considerable trouble in winter months.

The new line will be put into use if further difficulties occur this winter.

Legion Bingo Well Attended

The Coleman Legion's regular bingo night held on Friday 14th, was a well attended affair, although it was unfortunate that it had to be held the same night as the Firemen's Ball, so that these two fine events could not be attended as one might of wished. But all in all a grand time was had. The only setback was that Mr. Bond who normally attends and gives the Bingo caller a rough time was not on hand owing to conditions beyond his control. We had hoped to have had a chance to learn a few pointers from him.

Winners were as follows: No. 1, Tommy Lang of Penhold — Ham. No. 2, R. Woods — swings away can opener. No. 3, Mrs. Troitz — Ham. No. 4, Mrs. M. Fleming — kitchen set. No. 5, Baby jackpot consolation — Tony Dececo. No. 6, John Hardy — Ham. No. 7, Mrs. R. Clippen — Ham. No. 8, Mrs. F. Beddington — towel set. No. 9, Bill Harrison — Ham. No. 10, Jackpot consolation — Mrs. Nina Hurd.

National Hockey League play opens on Thursday, Oct. 6

MONTREAL — The 1955-56 National Hockey League season will open officially on Thursday, October 6, on two fronts. Montreal Canadiens will be hosts to the Toronto Maple Leafs and the Stanley Cup champion Detroit Red Wings will entertain the Chicago Black Hawks.

The revamped Chicago club open their home season the following night, October 7, when they meet the New York Rangers. Toronto will perform before their home-town fans for the first time this season on Saturday, October 8. Detroit Red Wings will supply the opposition. The Bruins play their initial home contest on Sunday, October 9. Traditionally the last team to open the season at home, the New York Rangers will tangle with the Toronto Maple Leafs in their 1955-56 Manhattan curtain raiser on Wednesday, October 19. Each club will again play a 70-game schedule and the complete 210 games will end on Sunday, March 18. The October 6 opening is the earliest in the history of the league which, incidentally, is commencing its 39th season of play. Montreal and Toronto play all of their home games on the same nights as they have for the past several years. Canadiens engage in 13 Thursday night tilts and 22 Saturday games. The Leafs play a full complement of 24 Saturday games and 11 on Wednesday. Boston Bruins with 18 have more Sunday night home games than any of the United States clubs. Besides playing 18 times on Sunday, the Bruins play 11 times on Thursday, four on Saturday and single games on Tuesday and Wednesday.

New York Rangers lean to Sundays and Wednesdays as the most popular home nights. The Rangers are at home for 16 Sunday tilts and 16 Wednesdays. They play two games on Thursday and one on a Saturday. Chicago Black Hawks have scheduled 16 Sundays at home, 11 Fridays, three Tuesdays and three Saturdays and two Thursdays.

Detroit Red Wings play at the Olympia 15 times on Sunday, 13 times on Thursday, four times on a Tuesday and three times on Saturday in their 1955-56 home schedule.

Less Sunday games in U.S. Eleven games on Friday is the most ever scheduled by Chicago for that particular evening. Last year the Hawks played three times on Friday. Detroit has increased the number of Tuesday games from one of a year ago to four this season. The Wings have decreased their Saturday home games from 10 of a year ago to three this season. They also play four more Sundays this year.

Clubs play four games in five days 14 times this season. Last year they played four games in five days on 25 occasions. Toronto play four times in five days on four occasions this season. Montreal Boston each do it three times while Detroit and Chicago each do it once.

Teams play on successive nights a total of 124 times this season. They played 137 times on successive nights in 1954-55. Toronto has the most doubleheaders with 24. New York and Boston follow with 22 each. Detroit has 21, Montreal 20, and Chicago 19.

Coal, oil gas reserves dwindling

By 2000 A.D. the world will have to rely on atomic power for its rapidly growing energy needs, as its coal, oil and natural gas reserves cannot keep pace with rising demands for power.

This is one of the many important conclusions to be drawn from the United Nations "Atoms for Peace" Conference in Geneva in which some 1,200 scientists and other experts from 72 countries took part.

By 1975 the world will be using three times more energy than today, and eight times more by the end of the century, the Conference was told.

At present about 80 percent of the energy comes from burning coal, oil and gas. By the year 2,000, no less than 7,500 million tons of coal will be needed each year, as in 1950.

Total recoverable reserves compared with 2,750 million tons of solid and liquid fuels and natural gas are estimated at about 3,500 billion tons. According to the president of the Conference, Dr. Homi J. Bhabha of India, these reserves may well be exhausted unless massive immigration occurs within a century.

He also predicted that within the next two decades it would be found possible to harness the energy produced by fusing atoms, as in an H-bomb, instead of splitting them. This would yield enough to solve the world's energy problem forever. Others, however, thought it would take much longer to develop this fusion process.

Alberta produces about 240,000 barrels of oil a day from more than 4,000 wells.

Collecting insects as exciting to this man as golf for others

John B. Wallis of Winnipeg says collecting insects is just as exciting to him as playing golf is to others, a Canadian Press story relates.

Mr. Wallis began his hobby 50 years ago and he now has built up Canada's largest private collection. Today at 78, he doesn't hesitate to go into the country in search of specimens. Recently he drove 170 miles to the salt plains on the White mouth river near Woodside, Man., and tramped for five hours—an excursion that netted him 16 tiger beetles.

"It's good sport catching the elusive creatures," Mr. Wallis said. "I was interested in all forms of nature, even as a boy," said Mr. Wallis. He came to Canada in 1893 at the age of 16 to learn farming. Three years later he went into teaching. In 1903, he became the supervisor of nature study in city schools, later a principal and then assistant superintendent of schools—a position he retired from in 1944.

The collections were made mostly during his holidays. At first, he collected bugs, wasps, beetles and butterflies. By 1915 he had all species of moths and butterflies to be found in Manitoba south of The Pas. This collection of 2,000 was sold last spring to the Saskatchewan government and now is in the provincial museum in Regina.

Personal collection "My collection was getting so large I began to concentrate on North American beetles alone. It wasn't long before I had all the known species of the insects found in Manitoba," Mr. Wallis said. Neatly-stacked mounting boxes, each holding about 700 specimens—a total of 50,000 north American beetles—fill an entire room in his home. He personally collected his specimens all across North America—from Mexico to California, British Columbia, Florida, Newfoundland and as far north as Churchill, Man., and Fort Smith, N.W.T. Mr. Wallis expressed disappointment that more people don't take to the hobby. "Many good collections begin in ordinary cigar boxes," he said. "There's very little equipment needed."

Equipment required The essentials for the aspiring collector are a brussels-type net easily made of soft wire, forceps for handling insects, a grooved board for spreading insects' wings, a setting needle made by inserting a pin into a match stick, insect-mounting pins and a small jar with a bit of sodium cyanide to be used as a killing bottle. All insects are preserved by drying.

Besides amassing his own collection, Mr. Wallis has carried out special studies from time to time for the federal department of agriculture, entomology division. He has written research papers on some 50 species. Several of these were published by the Royal Canadian Institute and also appeared in the Canadian Entomologist, North America's oldest entomological publication.

During the last four years he has been in charge of the insect museum at the University of Manitoba.

WILD RICE HARVEST

Indians call September the moon of wild rice

The Indians call September the moon of wild rice. It's the month they gather on the shores of shallow lakes and marshes in eastern Manitoba to begin the annual harvesting of Mahnomen or wild rice, reports Canadian Press.

The Indian pickers are paid 25 cents a pound by dealers. The rice is sold on the Chicago market at approximately $110 a bushel.

Two Indians in a canoe slowly glide through the towering rice stalks. The one in the bow guides the canoe while his companion kneels amidships and bends the slender grass-like stems over the side of the canoe with an 18-inch long picking stick, while with a second stick held in the other hand he gently taps off the rice heads into the bottom of the craft.

Finally, the rice-laden canoes return to shore where the women slightly roast the green rice in battered basins and old pots to loosen the hulls.

"Dance the rice" Then the men and young boys "dance the rice" in a hole dug in the ground, holding onto a bucking beam and chanting a monotonous rhythmic tune while jiggling up and down on the rice in moccasined feet to remove the hulls. The rice is then cleaned of chaff and ready for cooking.

Bill Williams of Pointe Du Bois harvests wild rice in the modern style. He's been at it since 1917 when he pioneered the processing and marketing of this little known, but highly-prized Canadian cereal.

Williams built a submarine harvester which looks not unlike a surrealist binder mounted on a 32-foot scow. On either side are beaters arms which gently tap the rice heads, knocking the kernels onto tin tables below.

The kernels are carried by rakers to the boat where a helper scoops them into sacks. The scow is propelled and steered by two large paddle wheels operating independently and powered by an 85-horsepower engine. The paddle wheels, by stirring up the mucky bottom of the marsh, cultivate the rice beds in the same way that a plow prepares the grain fields.

This strange contraption floats over 500 acres of marsh land on Lac Du Bois which Mr. Williams leases from the Manitoba government.

Mr. Williams loosens the rice hulls by a system of engine-driven drums rotating over a low fire. Hulling is done by modern machinery.

Manitoba's wild rice fields, judged the finest in the world, are located between the 49th and 54th parallel, but to the east side of Lake Winnipeg where conditions are most suitable.

Rice fields are administered by the lands and forestry branch of the Manitoba government which collects 15 percent of the cash value of the rice when the fields are located in accessible areas and 7½ percent when they are inaccessible and places must be used to freight it out.

Large rice areas in the Whiteshell district are also auctioned off to the highest bidder for harvesting.

Gourmets prize Manitoba's wild rice, used for stuffing for wild duck. It can be served with venison or any wild game or as a stuffing for peppers or combined with tuna fish or chow mein.

However, it is not seen on many housewife's shelves; it retails at $2.35 a pound. White rice sells at 25 cents.

Too tall for sports?

Many people believe that youngsters who have grown very tall should not be allowed to participate in hard sports. The theory is that such youngsters have used all their vitality in growing and thus can easily suffer organic strain.

Study of medical opinion on the subject, however, shows no basis for this belief. Providing medical examination shows the youngster to be organically sound.

The idea has become popular because the tall youngster often moves around slowly and seems to lack energy. People think he is not getting the energy and endurance he should have.

The actual case is that quite a few of these tall youngsters are a little awkward and slow moving because their reflexes and co-ordination have not caught up to their muscle growth. This causes them to move around more slowly.

Actually, sports activity will hasten the maturing of reflexes and co-ordination more than hindering it. If your family doctor says that your son or daughter is sound organically, participating in sport will be helpful and not detrimental, no matter how tall and lethargic they seem to be.

What is "athlete's nausea"?

Some athletes are often nauseated during and after hard athletic activity. Trainers sometimes call it "athlete's nausea."

If it happens after hard activity it is nothing to worry about. However, if it is accompanied by stomach pain, fever, severe headache, or if it happens after or during moderate exertion, it should be checked at once by a doctor.

The nausea developed during and after hard effort is a different story. Sometimes it is caused by nervousness before a game which upsets the athlete's digestion and causes him to get into a game with undigested food in his stomach.

Chinese women who are beautiful stay looking young and beautiful longer than women of any other nation. It is not at all uncommon for Chinese women who are 55 to appear to be about 25. How is this accounted for? The Chinese women say it is because they are always serene. That they don't worry and always have their emotions under control.

Inconvenience inspires invention

The automatic telephone, from which the currently used dial telephone was developed, was invented by an undertaker. The dial phone inventor, Almon B. Strowger of Kansas City, Mo., found waiting for operators to get him phone numbers unbearable. So he figured out what is called the Strowger switch that made automatic telephoning possible. That was in Kansas City, Mo., in the 1890's. The first general automatic telephone system was installed in the city of Laporte, Ind., in 1895.

Living in a "fool's paradise"

Which are cleverer in deceit? The male or the female? Indications are that when it comes to fooling the opposite sex, the female of the species is far more deadlier than the male. Consider the case of a beauty named Fatima Hassan, who lived in Cairo, Egypt. She was married to six men at the same time, who each thought he was her only husband. However, after a long period, Fatima made one false step. So she was arrested for bigamy. "It was fun," she said, and added she had no regrets as to her life with six husbands.

Songwriters must be slipping

Mary is still a grand old name, but it does not top the popularity list of feminine names any more. It now takes second place to Linda. There have been innumerable songs about girls named Mary, but there has yet to be one written about a girl named Linda.

... And they lived happily ever after

It is constantly maintained that it is very difficult for a widow with three or more children to interest a man in matrimony. If you know a widow or divorcee left with three or more children to support and seeking another husband, tell her not to be too discouraged. In England a 24-year-old bachelor married a 47-year-old widow, the mother of 22 children! That was four years ago and this unusual matrimonial union is still a happy one.

Life begins at 40 ... they say

The number of men going in for appearance rejuvenating is increasing. And why not? It isn't all vanity. The way some business organizations are discriminating against men over 40 is sufficient to inspire a man to stay looking as young as long as he possibly can. Another angle is that many wives, though the same age as their husbands, look 10 or 15 years younger. Why shouldn't a man look as young as his wife if possible? Many women don't like the idea of a husband looking too young. They think it will give him young ideas. This attitude has discouraged men in the past, but lately many males have been going in for trying to achieve a younger look.

Another cause is to eat too close to the beginning of the game or practice. This means that the food does not have a chance to digest. With some people, hard exercise creates a greater flow of acid in the stomach than is necessary and this results in a chemical reaction. Nausea is the result.

You can avoid much of this trouble by: 1. Learning to relax before competition. 2. Eating at least two hours before competition and being sure to eat easily digested foods. 3. Getting into condition by working hard at practice.

A few peppermints after the last meal will help hasten digestion, and if nausea sets in despite all precautions, 15 drops of oil of peppermint in a half glass of water will often fix things up.

WEEKLY BIBLE COMMENT

'JESUS' GIFT IS LIFE OF THE SPIRIT

The raising of Lazarus from the dead, as recorded in John, the bringing to life from the dead of the son of the widow of Nain, and the Resurrection of Jesus Himself are the only instances of bringing to life from the dead recorded in the Gospels. In the case of the widow's son a plausible explanation might be that the boy was apparently dead, but actually in a trance. But in the case of Lazarus no such plausible explanation is possible. For the record specifically states that Lazarus had been dead four days and mortification had set in.

So the event as recorded is wholly and completely miraculous, with no explanation whatever but in the living power of Christ. Why, then, with His living power, did Jesus exercise it only in these instances?

Jesus Himself never set the miracle as being of primary importance. His supreme appeal was spiritual. To accept His words, to follow His example and to find new life through the Gospel of the grace of God—these purposes stand out as above all else.

The Gospels might easily have been compiled wholly of miraculous things, but it is evidence alike of their greatness and of their authenticity that Jesus stands out in their pages, not as a great magician, but as a great Saviour.

His supreme mission has not been to raise men from physical death to physical life, but to bring men from the death of sin to the life of righteousness and the joy and blessedness of the New Life in Him.

Here's the Answer

Can save 'drowned' even after being submerged half hour

More than a thousand citizens die in drowning accidents in an average year. Judging by newspaper reports the number this year may be greater than ever. One is constrained, therefore, to call attention not only to the conventional rules which should be observed especially by swimmers and vacationers but also to the all important matter of artificial respiration.

It is more than 15 years since Health called attention to these facts. Health has also been grateful to anyone willing to report to the Health League of Canada any cases where artificial respiration has been successful. A compilation of facts in this connection will be a useful means of helping to save other lives in the future.

Can be revived

The first of these has to do with drowning itself and the possibility of reviving a victim of drowning. There has been a general and mistaken opinion that if a person is under water for more than four or five minutes, artificial respiration is useless. This is incorrect. There are numerous instances of persons having been revived even after having been submerged for as long as half an hour.

The second misconception has to do with signs of death. In drowning cases the ordinary signs of death do not count. Victims of drowning accidents have been revived in spite of the fact that for comparatively long periods they have appeared to be dead. This means that perhaps for several hours the patient has not breathed, there has been no pulse, no detectable heart beat and no eye reflex. These are the ordinary accepted signs of death.

Apart from the importance of a knowledge of how to undertake artificial respiration it is also important to know that to be sure it must be applied immediately and continued without cessation for a long time if necessary. The rule laid down by the Artificial Respiration Committee of the Health League of Canada, 15 years ago, was that it should be continued for a minimum of four hours or until rigor mortis sets in. Judging from current newspaper reports these rules have too often been forgotten. They are applicable in all cases of asphyxia from any cause. Rigid attention to these rules may save numerous lives.

In drowning cases there are some additional rules. One is that because of the not infrequent development of laryngeal spasm, every effort should be made sure that the air passages are clear if artificial respiration is to succeed. Health requests the press of

Reach No Decision Late Temporary Frank Bridge

When Blairmore Board of Trade met recently it was disclosed that a letter had been received from Gordon Taylor, Alberta minister Board of Trade to accept responsibility for the temporary bridge over Gold Creek at Frank.

This matter arose recently when the local board asked the government to keep open the old road at Frank that had been used as a detour during construction of the new No. 3 highway.

The board had requested this road be kept open to give tourists and visitors an excellent view of the slide area, the graves of slide victims and the entrance to the old Frank mine.

Since the government had constructed only a temporary bridge over Gold Creek the road was closed to traffic as soon as the new highway was put to use.

Studying the problem the board did not feel that it should be responsible for the bridge so it was suggested that a sign "road open—proceed at your own risk" be erected at both ends of the road. After some debate on the matter it was decided to leave the question in abeyance for further study.

It was pointed out that a new economic survey of Alberta was to be made by the Alberta government and as a result of this the local board agreed to undertake a preliminary survey of this area. President D. Pagnucco requested that L. Huntley, Ken Thornton and F. J. Lote serve on this committee.

Dr. R. B. Burgman of the Crow's Nest Pass Ski Club approached the board in regards as to whether a winter carnival would be held here this year. The Ski Club must state their dates to the Canadian Amateur Ski Club so that the meet will not conflict with other ski meets. A meeting will be called at an early date to discuss the Winter Carnival.

People who are over forty years of age may consider they are in perfect health and try to continue strenuous exercise or athletics. It is as well to consult the doctor as to when it is advisable to slow down activities, rather than taking chances on overdoing things.

DO YOU WANT YOUR ACTIVITIES IN THE NEWS?

It appears that some organizations want their activities printed in the local paper and do their utmost to co-operate, even when it is impossible for your reporter to cover these events, they will keep notes and make them available to us.

Others who wish their events on our pages will not co-operate; they neglect or refuse to inform us of the date and time and as to whether they wish one of our representatives to attend, they will not give us notes, or if they do they are out of date when we receive them. They seem to forget that they are the ones who make the news of our town. If we don't print their activities why we are failing to do our duty to the citizens of the town.

We ask how are we going to print those events if we are not invited to attend or if they fail to give us the required information. It appears that in some cases they prefer the city dailies to get this information and in turn the papers cut their events to the minimum and very few of the local people ever see the article.

Do they prefer the city dwellers and the few subscribers of the large papers over the local people and the local press? Maybe they don't realize that the local press are the ones who give the best coverage, gives more free advertising and support to their events than any other paper. Their doings are important to the local people and as such should be printed in the local press. We suggest that in the future that your press releases be given to the local paper before going to the dailies, if you wish coverage in your community. Your local paper is the back-bone of your community and should be considered. They are the ones who bring Coleman events to the public eye. So let's all get together and we can give you a finer paper with finer service.

Mr. and Mrs. Barnes Return From United Kingdom

Visiting England after an absence of 35 years, Mr. R. F. Barnes found London, though a trifle demolished, not greatly altered. He was favorably impressed with the taxi cab service, but depressed with the long narrow bath tubs he found in the hotels.

Mr. and Mrs. Barnes, Trunk Road, returned from the Old Country on Wednesday last. Mr. Barnes made the trip especially to attend the Commonwealth and Empire Law Conference held in London from July 20-27.

More than 800 delegates attended from all over the Commonwealth as well as from the United Kingdom. Problems of the profession were discussed and social events gave the delegates a further chance to know each other, while organized trips gave the visitors a chance to know the mother country.

The conference was preceded by a special service in Westminster Abbey, which Mr. Barnes reported, was sparsely attended. Opening ceremonies were held in Westminster hall, and subsequent meetings were in the Institute of Civil Engineers, Great George street.

The most colorful event of all terminated the proceedings; that was a banquet in the Guild Hall at which toastmasters were Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden, the Lord Archbishop of Canterbury, The Master of the Rolls, the Rt. Hon. Sir Raymond Evershad; the Lord Mayor of London, Sir Seymour Howard; Sir Hartley Shawcross, Q.C., and the Chief Justice of Ontario, the Hon. J.W. Pick-up. The meal itself went through an interesting list of courses from turtle soup to nuts.

After the conference Mr. and Mrs. Barnes spent some time motoring through the country.

BBC listeners shocked over changes

Hundreds of angry listeners dashed to telephone the British Broadcasting Corporation recently demanding to know why the BBC had dared to kill off a leading character in "The Archers"—a radio serial about family life on a farm, according to a Reuters dispatch from London.

The girl, Grace Archer, a very real person to 11,000,000 faithful fans, was heard in a recent installment dashing into a blazing stable. Her husband, Philip Archer, was heard shouting "Grace, Grace, for God's sake come back."

Then the roof fell in on her. She was taken away in an ambulance. Listeners heard her whisper to her husband: "Phil, I love you." Recently they tuned in complacently expecting to hear a report that her condition was favorable. Instead listeners heard Philip tell his father: "She died in my arms on the way to hospital."

A shocked Britain reached for the telephone.

Some listeners asked—almost in tears—if the "real" Grace was dead. Others protested at the terrible way she had died.

One of the script writers, Edward J. Mason explained: "The decision to kill off Grace was made at a script conference six months ago."

"The Archers have had a pretty smooth time since we started to chronicle their life and we thought it was time they were faced with a big emotional crisis."

"Now we want to show how ordinary people would react to such a sudden tragedy."

Ysanne Churchman, the actress who has played Grace since 1952, said: "Now I'll be free for other engagements."

Combine gobbles up Mr. Skunk; any suggestions?

Skunks going through combines during Saskatchewan's harvesting operations are creating a problem for some farmers, according to R. E. McKenzie, director of the plant industry branch, of the Saskatchewan department of agriculture.

Several enquiries have been received from farmers who have "threshed" one of the animals while picking up a swath and now wonder how to remove the strong odor from the combine and the grain, Mr. McKenzie said. Not only is it very unpleasant for a man to operate a combine after, but the grain contacted in the mishap is not wanted by elevators, which adds to the problem.

Washing the combine parts affected with gasoline or solvent might remove the smell from the machine, said Mr. McKenzie, but how do you deodorize grain? Has anyone any suggestions?

Black Hills Passion Play To Be At Lethbridge

In the northern edge of the beautiful Black Hills of South Dakota, nestled in a fertile valley, surrounded on three sides by the pine clad mountains from which the district draws its name, is the village of Spearfish, summer home of the Black Hills Passion Play. Here on a hillside in an Amphitheatre, seating 6,500 (hundreds of thousands of summer travellers, have witnessed the re-telling of a story 2,000 years old. It's an experience that most of them will never forget.

As the lights are dimmed in the huge Amphitheatre, a single shaft in the center of the 350 foot illuminates a white robed figure, against a background of soft organ music — the words of the PROLOGUE float out to the audience, and another performance of the Black Hills Passion Play has begun.

For two and one-half hours, one beautiful scene blends into another as the story of Christ's last seven days on earth is unfolded. The camel caravan, shepherds with their flocks of sheep, the Roman soldiers on their prancing white horses, all the pageantry of the ancient Orient is here. As Jesus enters the City on his donkey in this re-enactment of the age old story, two hundred people in colorful and authentic costumes make the streets of ancient Jerusalem come to life. From the touching scene at Bethany, in which Jesus takes leave of His Mother, through the somber beauty of the Last Supper and the excitement of the betrayal and trial scenes, Josef Meier's portrayal of the Mana of Nazareth is one of the great simplicity and sincerity. The characterization reaches its climax in the powerful scene depicting his tragic suffering and death on the cross. The triumphant resurrection, followed by the beautiful tableau of the Ascension with its glorious host of colored lights and the swelling chords of the "Halleluia" Chorus, fittingly concludes the stirring presentation.

Judas, Pontius Pilate, Calaphas, Herod, are presented by actors chosen for their ability and experience in the theatre. Most of them have been with Mr. Meier for many years and have absorbed the traditions brought to this country when the production was transplanted here. The role of Mary interpreted by Clare Hume Meier, Wife of the Christ. She brings to the part a physical beauty and vocal warmth that enhances her dramatic ability. As she meets the Christ on His way to Golgotha, her soul-stirring cry, "My Son! My Jesus!" is one of the most poignant moments of the Play.

From beginning to end, the Passion Play presented at Spearfish is a beautiful staged production in an impressive setting. It has earned its place as one of America's finest cultural institutions.

On February 22nd, 1954, the Play was awarded the Freedom Foundation's George Washington Medal for "Helping to bring about a better understanding of the American Way of Life."

The story of how this ancient European Play was brought to this country in 1932 by Josef Meier, world-famous Christ portrait, provides an interesting sidelight of our cultural history.

The Black Hills Passion Play was brought to this country in 1932 by Josef Meier, world famous Christ portrait. Mr. Meier's family had for seven generations, participated in the presentation of the Play in Westphalia, Germany. It was at that time known as the Lünen Passion Play. Lünen being the name of the town where it had been presented for hundreds of years.

At first the greatest difficulty encountered by the group of players was that of mastering the English language. A few members of the group became discouraged and homesick and were replaced by American actors. Others, by diligent work, were able to overcome their language difficulties and with Mr. Meier traveled America from coast to coast during the next five years.

These were depression years in America and the trouping of a large production such as the Passion Play about the country, was a tremendous undertaking. The actors not only assumed two or three roles each but also handled all of the duties connected with staging the production. The group traveled by railroad at this time with a private car for the Company and a baggage car to transport the effects. Arriving in a city the men of the Company would crawl out of their berths, unload them to set up the staging for the opening performance and then play two performances a day until it was time to move on again to the next town.

Card of Thanks

We would like to thank the Coleman Legion for taking the responsibility of collecting for a fund to help in Spencer's operation. Thanks also to St. Paul's United Church, the Lodges that have donated to this fund and the people in general that have helped.

A special thanks to Miss Jane Destobel for putting on a Tea and donating $363, the Explorers Group, the teachers and children of grades I to VI of Cameron School for their donations and best wishes before we went to Rochester.

Thank you Joan Dunford for asking the Legion to help us.

Thank you Marjorie and Wally Kubica for making it possible for us to take Spencer for his operation as soon as we did.

We appreciate all that has been done for us, so Thank You, Everyone.

Spencer is now feeling wonderful and would like to thank everyone for their best wishes and help in giving him back his health.

NOTHING TO BE SULKY ABOUT—Not for the absent horses, anyway. Motor scooters will never replace the hayburners as sulky power after this race, held in West Berlin, Germany. Held on an American sector sports field, "jockeys" should have heeded their "mudders'" advice and kept themselves harnessed to real horsepower. They skidded over the muddy course in a record slow time for a harness race.

SUSPENSE—Kenneth Collins, six months old, holds his breath as he waits for "Posie", pet skunk of the Bennington, Calif., family, to train her artillery elsewhere. Adopted by "Susie" and her kittens, the baby woods pussy has so far caused not one scent's worth of trouble.

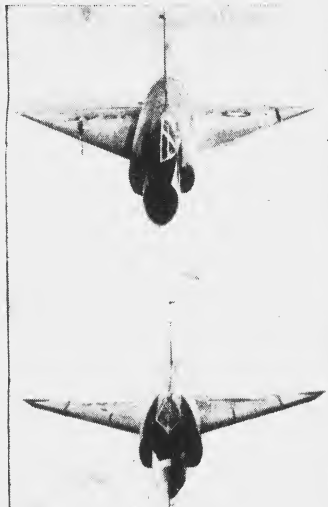

ON DISPLAY—The new Handley-Page Victor bomber, which can cruise at high subsonic speed at a height of 60,000 feet was put on display at the opening of the Farnborough air trade show in England.

GUESS WHO?—Strong soldiers are reduced to whimpering bundles of nerves when this GI answers the phone at the 599th Army Postal Unit, stationed at Bothery, France. When they ask, "Who's speaking?" they get the empowering answer, "Guess." That's the GI's name he's Specialist Third Class Don J. Guess, of Hickory, N.C.

CALCULATED CRUELTY—A treatment of "calculated cruelty" is being given to U.S. Army trainees in Reno, Nev., to toughen them against treatment they might receive if they fell into the hands of an unscrupulous enemy. A soldier is shown in the "hole" where he spent hours underground, shoulder deep in water.

JET INTERCEPTOR—These are before-and-after versions of the U.S. Air Force's all weather jet interceptor, a supersonic plane built by Convair. It shows how the plane's waist was nipped to make it go still faster and slip more easily past the speed of sound.

ART OF DIPLOMACY—Pictured above is the major portion of "Portrait of a Girl," executed by United States Ambassador to Italy, Clare Boothe Luce. She is reported to have been encouraged in her artistic endeavors by advice from President Eisenhower and a gift art kit from Sir Winston Churchill. Art critics see the Matisse influence in this, one of her first paintings.

"DATE" WITH DESTINY—Gen. Pierre Boyer de Latour, newly appointed resident general of French Morocco, accepts the traditional Arabian offering of dates and milk as a sign of hospitality as he visits Oued Zem, scene of a recent bloody uprising of Berber tribesmen. He replaces Gilbert Grandval as France attempts to cool seething unrest in North Africa.

PENNIE'S IN HEAVEN—Pennie, newly acquired baby elephant at the Fleishacker (San Francisco) Zoo, finds that there's a string—in this case a leg chain—to her enjoyment of this luscious three-layer-hay-and-whole-wheat "christening" cake. Keepers wanted to be sure that the youngster left some of the treat for her guests, background, members of a circus menagerie.

PAINTING the Radome which houses the radar equipment at the USAF base on Thule, Greenland, presented a problem until a helicopter was brought into play to lower painter Floyd Tate onto the dome.

EDWARD C. BRANCH, 43-year-old Montgomery, Ala., lawyer, has finally abandoned his attempts to woo and win singing star Gisele MacKenzie. Gisele's father finally advised Winnipeg police, where Branch had pursued her, that the Canadian star was not only disinterested but disturbed by his advances.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

A Dollar For Luck

By ROGER S. VRELAND

A LITTLE girl in a pale yellow bathing suit went running past him, interrupting his thoughts. Her dark hair in damp irregular strands flopped up and down on her shoulders. Suddenly she dropped on one knee before him, staring momentarily into the clover oblivious of his presence. Just as quickly, she rose and continued on her way.

He called to her. "Think it was a four-leaf?"

With surprise she looked back and grinned briefly. It was a wide, freckly grin.

"Yes! For a minute!" she laughed shyly, without slackening the pace of her angry legs.

Michael began to finger the leaves himself, and his thoughts drifted back into the channel they had left. His six solid feet of man lay in the clover near the edge of the sand, big tanned back turned to the blazing sun, clean broad chest nestled in the cool soft green. His trunks were still damp from a long, hard swim. Even in the water he had isolated himself, pushing out with leisurely power almost to the marshy shores opposite, then back. And instead of stretching out on the sand like others, he chose the clover.

Funny, the lengths a fellow will go to avoid the direct course! Michael had thought of going directly to Angela and saying he was sorry, that it was his fault. Trouble was, that would leave him no harbor of refuge should Angela tilt her pretty little chin disdainfully.

Raising his own chin out of the clover, his eyes from behind dark lenses wandered among the people in front of the clubhouse. They were all in swim suits. Michael wondered what she looked like, now. It was hard to know what seven and a half years might do. He doubted that there could be much change in her chin! Seven and a half years ago they were really children, unstable, unprepared to weather first storms. But no longer could he doubt that they had been in love.

A mysterious nostalgia passed through him, misty at first. He and Angela had once searched for a four-leafed clover. Ah, yes. Now it was clear! It was high on Johnnycake Hill—a glorious June day nearly eight years ago. They found one, too, and within the same hour Angela had said yes that she wanted to be his forever.

An aura of delicious melancholia enveloped him.

Angela, he knew, was here, somewhere, at this resort. Yes, it was a pretty direct course he was taking at that! But he was keeping close to shelter. He'd been too stubborn. But he still loved her. Maybe the adage about absence making the heart grow fonder was corny, but in his case it was poignantly true. Life was too short. He had sought isolation too much. Too afraid of injury, perhaps. Unthinking friends had torn them apart. Now, unthinkingly, they would bring them together. Leads about Angela had not been hard to find. She was here, somewhere. Clutching a handful of clover with a nervous impulse he pulled it out and tossed it to the breeze.

One bit of green stuck in his palm and he started to flick it away. It was with an almost childish faith that he spied its four little lobes pressed against his skin.

The little girl in the pale yellow bathing suit came running on her way back to the clubhouse. He called to her.

"I've got what you want!"

She turned with uncertainty. "A four-leafed clover!" He held it up.

Her face lighted. She took it timidly.

"You don't suppose for a minute there's really anything to it, do you?" he asked. "I mean the clover luck. It's just a little freak of nature, you know."

But her face remained unclouded by his cynicism. "I'm afraid you're wrong, sir! My mother says the only good luck she ever had came on the day she found one of these!" She held it up and her eyes brightened triumphantly.

"Not only that, but she'll give me a quarter for this!"

Michael found himself sharing her triumph. "Gosh, in that case you must be right! What about your daddy?" He asked. "He believes in them too?"

She looked doubtful. "I've never seen my Daddy. The corners of her mouth pointed to a pair of dimples and her eyes flickered wistfully. "That's just it. My mother says that she found Daddy and a four-leafed clover at the same time—and that I would never have been, if it weren't for a four-leafed clover!"

Michael suddenly found it hard to talk. "What became of your daddy?" he managed.

"Oh, they just didn't get long I guess," she said tossing her head sideways and attempting to sound mature. "They were, uh— incompatible."

He raised to a sitting position. "Your name is Angela, isn't it?"

"Why, yes," she replied with obvious satisfaction. "How did you know that?"

"Angela—" He spoke gravely. "Do you think your mother still loves your daddy?"

Her eyes were gazing into his. "Yes," she said. "She loves him very much."

"Then, do me a favor, Angela! Give me back the four-leafed clover. Will you?" But suddenly he realized the necessity of being practical. "You won't lose anything, will you?"

West weeklies take several prize awards

Western Canadian weekly newspapers made a notable showing in the 1955 national newspaper awards, announced at the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association convention held in Vancouver.

The Grenfell Sun was awarded two first places. It was judged the best all round weekly in its class, with the Parksville Qualicum Beach, B.C., Spotlight in second place, and the Rimby, Alberta Record in third place. The Sun captured the Hugh Savard shield.

For the third successive year, the Grenfell Sun was awarded the Printer and Publisher special trophy for the best front page in its class. The Qualicum Beach paper was runner-up and the Qualicum B.C. Herald third.

The Swift Current Sun won first place for the best editorial page in its class (over 3,000 circulation), with the Yorkton Enterprise in third place. The Yorkton Enterprise also was judged third in the best all round weekly competition in the over 3,000 circulation class.

The Melville Advance placed second in the editorial page competition for papers in the 2,001-3,000 circulation class. And in the special sports page competition, the North Battleford News-Optimist placed second.

The Brampton, Ontario, Conservator won the title for the best all round weekly newspaper in the large weekly newspaper class in which the Yorkton Enterprise was third.

One day, when the cook was away, Stevenson told another servant, Sosino, just to bring him a little bread and cheese for lunch to his writing-room. But to his surprise he was served with an excellent meal—an omelet, a good salad, and perfect coffee.

"Who cooked this?" asked Stevenson.

"I did," said Sosino.

"Well, then, great is your wisdom," Sosino bowed and humbly corrected him saying: "Great is my love."

Service of love

Robert Louis Stevenson had a remarkable power of attracting people to himself by the very magnetism of his personality, as well as the kindness of his behaviour.

2nd Canadian Infantry Brigade group to replace NATO forces in Germany

OTTAWA.—Army Headquarters in Ottawa has announced the departure soon for Germany of the Canadian force that will serve under the North Atlantic Treaty Organization for the next two years.

The 2nd Canadian Infantry Brigade Group, under Brig. Roger Rowley, DSO, ED, 41, of Ottawa, will embark from the Port of Quebec aboard eight ocean liners between the end of September and mid-November. It will replace the 1st Canadian Infantry Brigade Group, under Brig. William A. B. Anderson, OBE, CD, 40, of Montreal, which has been serving in Europe since the fall of 1953.

Numbering almost 5,000 strong, the contingent is the fourth that the Canadian Army has dispatched for service in Europe since 1951, under Canada's commitment to NATO.

First sailing Sept. 29

First elements of the European bond formation are expected to sail on September 29, aboard the "Columbia". The draft will include Brigade Headquarters units and three service units, totalling 650 all ranks. It will be followed on October 5, by the "Samaria", carrying about 800 officers and men of the 1st Battalion, Royal 22nd Regiment, and the advance party 1st Field Squadron, Royal Canadian Engineers.

On October 11, 600 officers and men of the 1st Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry will embark aboard the "Nepomuk". Three days later, on October 15, the largest of the seven drafts will depart aboard the "S. S. S. S.", carrying a company from the PPCLI and the Van Doos; "A" Squadron of the Royal Canadian Dragoons; a reduced rifle company of The Royal Canadian Regiment; and a battery from the 4th Field Regiment, Royal Canadian Horse Artillery. The draft will total about 875 all ranks.

Four more ships will follow on 26 October, November 1, 8 and 12. They are "Franconia", "Queen Frederica", the "Boeytia" and the "Empress of Australia". They will carry 1,984 officers and men of the 2nd Brigade's remaining units and service units.

In addition, some of the above ships will also carry dependents of the 2nd Canadian Infantry Brigade to their new homes in Germany, as well as return troops and dependents of 1st Brigade soldiers back to Canada.

A total of six Atlantic crossings will be made carrying approximately 3,000 wives and children to Europe. About 5,000 soldiers' dependents will be returning to Canada this Fall in nine vessels.

Return of bands by hunters helps frame hunt regulations

Although waterfowl hunting regulations may seem, like some of life's other little mysteries, to come out of thin air, they have muscle behind them instead of magic, relates an Associated Press story.

The basic framework of the 1955 season announced recently by the U.S. fish and wildlife service, for instance, are based on some positive predictions about where the ducks are going to be, and how many.

"Flights on all flyways are expected to be the best since 1952," the federal service said.

The service forecast a considerable increase in the fall flights for the Mississippi and central flyways, a moderate increase in the Atlantic flyway and a slight increase in the Pacific flyway.

Wide-spread effort

The summary was brief. But it took the combined efforts of waterfowl experts from the U.S. federal government, the Canadian federal and provincial agencies and from 16 co-operating states to produce it.

The co-operative effort concentrates in the duck factory marshes of Saskatchewan, Alberta and Manitoba. Now in its second year, it already promises to tell the experts more waterfowl secrets than they've been able to flush out in the previous 100 years.

Most important, to the experts, thus indirectly to the duck hunter, although he may not realize it, is the bird banding program of the co-operative crews who spend six weeks wading and working in the marshes. The general studies of bird populations and breeding conditions are done by U.S. and Canadian officials with familiar tools of aerial surveys and such.

But the banding studies are what tell the story of where ducks

Second grade student: "Can I go to the store and buy some bubble gum?"

Teacher: "Give me three reasons."

The little boy pondered a moment, then said: "I want some, they sell it, and I've got the penny."

REMOVING STAINS

To remove stains from ceramic tiles, wash them with a solution of three tablespoons of household bleach and a quart of water. If this does not do the job add one part hydrochloric acid to 10 parts of water (acid to water, never water to acid) and rub the tiles well with a thin clean cloth saturated with this solution. Then rinse thoroughly with clean water.

Helpful Hints

The gloss on rubber overshoes is made by the use of a special rubber varnish which is applied before the shoes are vulcanized. The gloss can be restored to some extent by rubbing with glycerine.

After each wearing, hang clothing near an open window for airing before placing it in the closet. Check to see if any spots need immediate attention.

When putting garments away, hang them on covered or wooden hangers, not wire ones. Always use close zippers and buttons—at least the top button—so garments will hang properly.

Forestry Showings Well Attended

At Coleman also, we are privileged to use the local theatre, through the courtesy of Mr. Purnell. Our first two meetings, at 9 and 10:30 a.m., were presented in Cameron school, with Miss M. E. Dunlop, the principal, giving us most effective co-operation.

Miss Dunlop has taught in this school for nearly 30 years, and her devotion to her work in providing instruction and guidance to two generations of young people in this town is a highlight in public service. We were graciously welcomed by Miss Dunlop, and the pupils at both meetings proved attentive and interested.

In the afternoon at 2 p.m., Mr. H. Allen, principal of Coleman school, and his staff attended a program in the Purnell Theatre, with all students, numbering 416, present. The theatre was full, but we enjoyed perfect attention throughout the entire presentation. Our annual visits in past years are well remembered by the young people, and it is evident they look forward to these lessons on the things of nature. It is a real pleasure to present our programs at all these points, and note from questions, their increasing interest and knowledge on the subject of conservation.

In the evening we travelled to Beaver Mines, where our meeting was held in the local hall, through the kind co-operation of the Women's Institute. Though the night was cold, a good fire in the hall, and a fine turnout of 90 people, resulted in a most pleasant meeting. The audience gave every indication of enjoying the presentation, and we overheard many favorable comments on the presentation. Though the road to this point was very rough, it was quite passable, and we felt our visit most worthwhile, and upon many requests, assured those present we would try and include Beaver Mines on next year's itinerary. Mr. Norman Lind was responsible for this community being on the 1955 itinerary.

Our meeting this evening completed our annual visit to the Crown's Nest Pass, which through the efficient planning and effective co-operation of Mr. Norman Lind, Forest Superintendent, and the fine public reception accorded us, proved most pleasant and we hope profitable. The attendance exceeded last year by more than two hundred.

To Conduct Services at Salvation Army

Sr. Mayor and Mrs. Wm. Ross, Divisional Commanders of the Salvation Army for Alberta, will be in Coleman this week-end for the purpose of inspecting the local work here. While here they will conduct the Sunday Services.

In order to control the body's metabolism, the thyroid gland manufactures thyroxin, which process requires a regular supply of iodine, obtained from food. To ensure this supply, table salt is iodized. A lack of iodine may cause the gland to swell, a condition known as simple goitre.

Rexall Original

Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday
Oct., 19, 20, 21 and 22

You've seen it advertised in Maclean's, Star Weekly, Weekend Picture Magazine, Family Herald and Weekly Star, Free Press Weekly Prairie Farmer, Le Samedi, La Patrie and La Presse. Now it's here in Coleman. It's the Rexall Original One Cent Sale, opening Wednesday, October 19th at Coleman's Rexall Drug Store. Yes, folks, it's the sale you can't afford to miss! Here's an example of what just one penny will do. You buy a sixty-five-cent bottle of one hundred Rexall A Sa-Rex Tablets, then you get a second identical bottle for just one cent. Or, buy a half-inch by five-yard spool of thirty-nine-cent Rexall Plastic Adhesive Tape and a second spool costs only a penny. These are just two of the hundreds of items on which you can save during Coleman's Rexall Original One Cent Sale. Remember...the greatest Rexall One Cent Sale of all opens
